Broad Street Park in a finish wrestling match, best two falls out of three, are resting on their oars. They are ready for the combat, and the god of chance is now shuffling his cards. Just what kind of hands Fate will deal out is as uncertain as the changing winds. Given two men of nearly equal ability, both ready to strain every muscle, to exert every particle of ability possessed in order that victory may result, and not even your expert will show enough temerity to pick a winner. There is entirely too much of the grandoldupset extant to allow one to select a winner for the public.

If it be of interest to those who follow these lines, it is my opinion that never were two men in better condition than are Roller and Donnelly, nor was there ever two men more evenly matchd, so far as preparedness is concerned. Though I have looked at many men in my time, both fighters and wrestlers, including the best in each division formulation. They make the content of the playing of the Ashlanders. Englewood, N. J., May 23.—The name of Oswald Kirkby, of the Englewood Country Club, will be the first to be engraved on the Metropolitan Golf Association's new champonship trophy, the list one having become the property of Jeronn D. Travers.
Kirkby defeated Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, here to-day by three up and one to play in the final 35-hole round for the Metropolitan title, which he has persistently sought and payed for annually since 1996. His best previous effort was in 1912, when he was runner-up to Travers, while last year and in 1911 he was eliminated in the semi-final round by Travers and Fred Herreshoff, respectively.

Kirkby's game has improved steadily each succeeding year, and his success to-day was not unexpected.

News Here Monday

Manager Ray Ryan and his Colts, after a week-end spent among the hills of Roanoke, return to their home heath to-day for a week's stay. During the six-day sojourn among friends the Colts will tackle in order, Newport News and Petersburg. The Shiphufiders are here tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday, while the Goobers will be our portion the latter part of the week, a double-hender being scheduled for Saturday, one game in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Despite temporary setbacks to reach the top of the heap, Ryan believes that before the week is over he will have ousted Matthews from second place, and will be close on the heels of Buck Pressly and his Turs. Not until the 11th of next mouth does Ryan get a whack at Norfolk. All of next week will be spent abroad, the time being divided between Newport News and Norfolk, making a total of six games with each of these clubs in twelve days.

1913 WAS MOST PROFITABLE

YEAR IN LEAGUE'S HISTORY.
We are further informed by Mr.
Boatwright that 1913 was by far the best year the Virginia League has ever had, a statement that we accept without drgument, as Mr. Boatwright has the former warm probably at hand the figures very probably at hand. He adds that the present season has been rather prolific in postponed games, there having been five, as against three last year, and, as a clinching argument, he cites the untoward weather conditions evicting up to the present er conditions existing up to the pres-ent time this season. All of which is excellent argument in support of the excellent argument in support of the equitable schedule.

Quoting from Mr. Boatwright's letter: "I noticed in your paper recently, several articles concerning the condition of the Virginia League, which I really do not think you should have published without being posted, for my the articles are certainly incorrect and unfair to the league. You know I to have always been glad to furnish the have always been glad to furnish the papers information at all times, but publications of this nature are not only unfair to the league, but do your paper harm also." After referring to weather conditions, to which we have already alluded, Mr. Boat- wright adds: "In addition to this the List Virginia League has in my hands the sum of $4,200, a thing not known be-fore in this league. I feel sure that up you did not maliclously publish these articles, but I think that at times you it are too anxious to make copy at the expense of the league."

In one instance, at least, Mr. Boatwirght is correct in his assumption; we have never stated facts in connections. we have never stated facts in connection with the league maliclously, but of we have religiously stated facts. Nor whave we been too anxious for copy—writing copy just for copy is by no means one of our chief qualities. But we have been very anxious to let the public know conditions in the league of the public know conditions in the league. NEWPORT NEWS AND NORFOLK

NEWPORT NEWS AND NORFOLK SHOW REAL INCREASE
We have always stated that Newport figures presented by Mr. Boatwright prove this. Norfolk and Newport News are leading the league in the percentage column. We stated that Petersburg, Roanoke, Portsmouth and Richmond would show a decided falling off, and this is shown by Mr. Boatwright's figures.

Further, we still believe that these four cities will continue to show a deficit as compared with 1913 and a deficit increasing at a surprising ratio as
